Subject: Automatic reply: Investigation into involuntary manslaughter through negligence

Thank you for taking the time to contact me.

This is an automatically generated reply so that you know that your email has been received.

I will read your email and consider it carefully, but I am sure you will appreciate that given the overwhelmingly large volume of emails I receive each day, I often cannot reply immediately, nor reply to every email received.

Naturally, I prioritise emails from my constituents and those relating to my portfolio. To assist me, I would therefore be grateful if you could reply to this email with your full name and residential address.

If your email is part of an automatically generated campaign, I will note your views.
